Summer Internships

CHIANG MAI, THAILAND

Get some real-world experience in an international setting!

ISDSI internships are community-based, and emphasize cross-cultural collaboration, giving students the opportunity to contribute to real-world solutions while gaining professional and research experience. Each placement is tailored to match student interests and skills, offering a unique opportunity to work closely with experts, community leaders, NGOs, and other organizations. Through fieldwork, hands-on learning, and engagement with local communities, students develop a deeper understanding of their chosen topic in a cross-cultural international setting, helping prepare them for graduate school and future professional work.
